INTERNATIONAL WATER FORUM TURNS TEN

Registrations are open for the 10th International Riversymposium and Environmental Flows Conference to be held in Brisbane from the 3rd – 6th September.

2007 celebrates the tenth anniversary of the Riverfestival and its International Riversymposium. This year the symposium is set to be the largest forum to date and promises a new and inspirational program of national and international speakers and training workshops.

For the first time a partnership between the International Riversymposium and The Nature Conservancy has been formed to give delegates exposure across a broader range of river management topics than ever before.

The symposium theme for 2007 is environmental flows, one of the most pressing and contentious issues concerning rivers. Session themes will cover topics including drought, floods, climate change, water quality and dams.

A full list of keynote speakers, case studies and feature sessions can be found on the Riversymposium website at www.riversymposium.com.

The symposium is an integral part of Riverfestival, an annual environmental and cultural celebration of the Brisbane River and its people.
